Healthcare at the Intersection(s)

Kim Brewer is a community member engaged in the advancement of the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion discipline across the intersections of society in healthcare, education, housing, economics, civic and criminal system(s).

Her goal in sharing at this conference is to openly and honestly confront the disparity in perinatal care among the marginalized, and Black mothers and babies specifically.

In doing so, the hope is that by standing in the truth we can find the commitment to make sustained systemic change, not just performative or 'trending' adjustments.
