

Monika Mitra, PhD

she/her

The Need for Inclusive Perinatal Health for People with Disabilities: A Call to Action

Dr. Monika Mitra is the Nancy Lurie Marks Associate Professor of Disability Policy, and Director of the Lurie Institute for Disability Policy at Brandeis University.

Her research examines the health care experiences and health outcomes of people with disabilities, with a focus on the sexual and reproductive health of women with disabilities.

She is currently co-leading the National Research Center for Parents with Disabilities focused on addressing knowledge gaps regarding the needs of parents with diverse disabilities, the Community Living Policy Center aimed at improving policies and practices that advance community living outcomes for people with disabilities, and the National Center for Disability and Pregnancy Research, focused on improving disabled people's pregnancy experiences and outcomes through research, training, and education .

Dr. Mitra is co-editor-in-chief of the Disability and Health Journal and the 2017 recipient of the Allan Meyers Award from the American Public Health Association Disability Section. Prior to joining Brandeis, Dr. Mitra was Associate Professor in the Department of Family Medicine at the University of Massachusetts Medical School. She received her PhD and MA from Boston University, and her MS from Calcutta University, Kolkata, India.

Contact me: mmitra@brandeis.edu
heller.brandeis.edu/parents-with-disabilities

National Research Center for Parents with Disabilities