"Cannabis in Pregnancy and Lactation: A Case Study for Policies"

Mx. Indra Lusero (they/them), JD, MA, is a birth justice attorney who loves to tackle new territory, dive-in to cutting-edge issues and ideas, and navigate periods of change and uncertainty.

Indra is the founder of Elephant Circle and the Birth Rights Bar Association.

As a Queer, Genderqueer, Latinx parent rooted in the Rocky Mountains/Southwest Indra is attuned to the importance of people on the margins and their role in leading us to dismantle oppressive systems and build a more equitable world.

Indra was the architect of Colorado's 2021 Birth Equity legislation.

Indra has been involved in legislation to eliminate the shackling of incarcerated women during pregnancy and birth, to improve midwifery and birth center regulations, and to create more humane policies for families impacted by substance use.

Indra also spearheaded the creation of "Birth Rights: A resource for everyday people to defend human rights during labor and birth," and is a designing-for-equity facilitator with Black Women's Blueprint's Safer Childbirth Cities initiative.
